Dear Mrs. Slavoeiff

Ever since we heard the news of your brother's death it has been my intention to write you, to tell you that we are all sympathisers with you and your poor Mother. to whom it must be a very great trial. He was her youngest I believe and a very promising boy they tell me.

Gods ways are very often not our ways. He sees the future as we do not: and it is a great comfort.

I hope to hear from you as well as of you from time to time. Mr. Washburn would write himself but he did the cards

Yours sincerely
H. L. Washburn.
