

now & then to rest it. Nobody in this house is accomplished in the art. I bought a set of dominos in Dieppe - which, by the way, is a quaint old place - I found an old church there built in the 14th 15th centuries with "flying buttresses" & in other respects not unlike Notre Dame, on a smaller scale - An old Castle on the hill, grand & picturesque - and a sea-beach to delight in! The noise dashing up & "toying" with the pebbles & shells & running away again, only to come back immediately & do it over again!
Alas! the noise was not so fascinating when we got on board the miserable steamer which was to take us to New York.
They rolled & pitched the poor thing & washed the deck completely - so that I was forced to go to the cabin -
