

Handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The text is mirrored and difficult to decipher but appears to contain several lines of cursive script.

Handwritten text on the lower half of the page, also appearing to be bleed-through. The text is mirrored and partially obscured by a dark rectangular area in the lower right quadrant.