

Faith is a basic category in Vaptsarov's ethical world and a lot has been written and said about it. [...]

His faith as ideology and moral ideal has always been steady. This is faith in communism. As a humanist ideal it carries the deep meaning of assertion that "life will be better and wiser". As a general philosophical idea Vaptsarov's faith is related to the idea of progress and to the firm belief in its irrevocability.

I must say that to the poet himself it is something different from how the future generations will interpret it, something different from what literary scholars will find in it. To him it is a real, specific and personal need, a necessity of his existence, an impulse and strength for life. He says