

[The page contains approximately 25 lines of handwritten text in a cursive script, which is almost entirely illegible due to extreme fading and bleed-through from the reverse side. The text is written on aged, yellowish paper. A faint watermark of a classical building with columns is visible in the center of the page.]